Justification / Uzasadnienie

The scientific achievements of Michał Wójcik, according to the experience of the Commission members, are good among other doctoral students at the same stage of advancement. He has already published one paper (140 points according to the Ministry of Science and Education) in a prestigious journal in the discipline of information and communication technology. The second article is currently in the refinement process based on the reviews. All scheduled tasks are carried out following the assumed schedule. A short delay is caused by additional experiments, raised by reviewers, that are ongoing. The Ph.D. student presented research results at one well-known conference in the discipline, namely the 32nd European Conference on Operational Research (EURO-32nd). In addition, Mr. Michał Wójcik also took part in a three-month industrial internship at PSI. It is also worth emphasizing the cooperation that the Ph.D. student carries out during the research with Dr. Rafał Bachorz, head of the Molecular Modeling Laboratory at the Institute of Medical Biology of the Polish Academy of Sciences. Ph.D. student confirmed that cooperation with the Supervisor, Prof. Miłosz Kadzinski is very fruitful. Finally, the Ph.D. student completed all the required courses from the Individual Education Program. Summing up, the Commission does not see any risks related to completing the work on Mr. Michał Wójcik's Ph.D. thesis on time.
