Justification / Uzasadnienie

According to the Commission members, Weronika Mrozek's academic achievements are good compared to other doctoral students at the same stage of advancement. She has one paper (200 points according to the Ministry of Science and Higher Education) submitted to prestigious journal in the field of information and communication technology. All planned tasks are being carried out according to schedule. A slight delay is due to the complexity of the retailing data set, which is noisy and requires thorough preprocessing and specialized transformation to eliminate inconsistencies. The doctoral student presented her research results at a renowned conference in this discipline, namely the 34th European Conference on Operational Research (EURO2025). It is worth noting that Ms. Weronika completed a three-month research internship in 2024 at Open Analytics (Belgium), where she gained practical experience in designing advanced data processing and effective applied analytics. The doctoral student emphasized that her collaboration with her supervisor, Prof. Miłosz Kadziński, has been exemplary. Finally, she completed all the required courses as part of the Individual Education Program. In summary, the Committee does not see any significant risks that would adversely affect the completion of the remaining work within the framework of Ms. Weronika Mrozek's doctoral studies.
